

Transcript of the Braille Version

2018 national curriculum tests

Key stage 1

English reading

Braille

Paper 2: reading booklet

Games From Around the World

A New Home

[braille page 1]

Contents

Games From Around the World	2
A New Home	11

[braille page 2]

Games From Around the World

All around the world, children play all sorts of different games. You don't need expensive games or lots of space to play a great game, just some imagination!

Play can be inside or outside, and you can play on your own or with lots of friends. Some games are calm and quiet, whilst others are very noisy!

[braille page 3]

Some games like football, chess and jigsaw puzzles are popular in lots of countries so they have the same rules and equipment wherever they are played. But some games are only well known in certain countries.

Here are five games that children in different countries like to play:

[braille page 4]

Pilolo—from Ghana

Pilolo is a hiding game using sticks, stones, coins or other small items. One child hides the objects. It's then a race for all the other players to find one of the hidden items and get back to the finish line first. You need quick feet for this game!

[braille page 5]

Statues—from Greece

One child is 'it' and stands in the centre of a large space, counting loudly. The other players walk around waiting for that child to shout, 'statue'. When they hear this word, the players freeze like statues. Anyone who is moving is out. Then, the child who is 'it' tries to make the others laugh or move. The last player remaining as still as a statue is the winner and becomes the new 'it'. This game can be great for practising your balance if you are standing in an awkward position.

[braille page 6]

[braille page 7]

Oonch Neech—from Pakistan

The name of this game means 'up down'. It involves lots of running around. Children have to be 'up' off the ground, such as on a chair, or 'down' where they must be touching the ground. One child is 'it' and has to catch the others. It uses up lots of energy and is great fun.

[braille page 8]

Kangaroo Skippyroo—from Australia

In this game, one child sits in the middle of a circle of children and pretends to be a sleeping kangaroo with its eyes shut. When one of the other children touches the kangaroo's shoulder, the kangaroo has to guess who it is. This game is all about guessing.

[braille page 9]

Pass the Parcel—from the United Kingdom

In this game, children sit in a circle and a parcel, covered in layers of paper, is passed from child to child to the sound of music. Whenever the music stops, the child holding the parcel removes one layer of paper and then passes the parcel on. The game stops when a lucky child removes the last piece of paper and wins the present inside. This game is often played at parties. Another person (usually an adult) is needed to start and stop the music during the game. This game is mainly about luck.

[braille page 10]

[braille page 11]

A New Home

Past the last house, past the factory gates, past the edge of town, there, hidden at the feet of ancient trees, sparkled a small, green pond.

Tall reeds rustled around its edge, hiding croaking frogs and clouds of buzzing insects.

[braille page 12]

The pond was home for two small, wild ducks who spent their days swimming and diving for food, and their nights sleeping safely on a small island.

One day, huge, rumbling, grumbling machines crawled towards the pond. With a roar and a gurggle, out poured the pond's precious water.

[braille page 13]

Now the pond and island were gone forever. The ducks would have to find another place to live. The ducks needed water, where they could swim and find food, and a safe place to sleep.

[braille page 14]

All day the two ducks flew, leaving the town and its grumbling machines far behind. At last, very tired, they came to the sea. But the waves were frightening, the water was salty, and they couldn't find any food.

Grumpy seagulls squawked and chased them away. When the sun went down, the two ducks slept in a silent fairground.

[braille page 15]

The fair and the beach could not be a home for wild ducks. So the next day, they flew on and on until they found a busy river.

That night, two tired little ducks slept on a small, bobbing boat, but almost went out to sea in the morning.

The homeless ducks flew and flew. Then, just before the sun set, they found another pond.

[braille page 16]

The ducks hid in some thick reeds. But they were found, pushed into a dark box, and jolted around for a long time.

At last, they were set free on a lake where tall reeds rustled, frogs croaked, and clouds of insects buzzed over the clear water. A new home at last!

.....

These texts have been incorporated into this test paper solely for the purposes of the examination in accordance with Section 32 of the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988, as amended by the Copyright and Rights in Performances (Research, Education, Libraries and Archives) Regulations 2014. No copyright or clearance for any other use has been obtained or sought.

Braille transcript

Print version product code: STA/18/7962/BTp ISBN 978-1-78644-685-5

Electronic PDF version product code: STA/18/7962/BTp ISBN 978-1-78644-795-1

© Crown copyright 2018